A Word from the Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Dear Alumni, Parents, and friends of the Academy:

Dr. /Col Jim Benson, USMC (Ret) turns over the reins of Howe Military Academy to Dr. /COL Tom Tate, USA (Ret) on July 1, 2018.

After five months, at the helm of the Academy and during possibly the most crucial period in the school's history, Col Benson passed the baton to his own hand-selected Commandant, COL Tom Tate. Subsequent to consulting with the Board of Trustees during the fall and winter of 2017, the Board asked

Col Jim Benson, USMC (Ret)
www.jhbensonturnarounds.com

Col Benson to assume the position of Superintendent. In an open-ended contract, Col Benson agreed to lead the Academy until such time as the Academy had turned the corner from an educational, financial, and military standpoint; seek to improve the Academy staff and teaching faculty to the extent required; and advise the Board relative to a candidate to become the next Superintendent.

Upon Col Benson's recommendation and on June 21, 2018 the Board voted to name COL Tom Tate as the next head of school and to change the title from Superintendent to President/CEO. COL Tate, a decorated Army Special Forces Officer and a leader/scholar with a doctorate in Higher Education Administration from the University of Alabama, brings a wealth of experience to HMA. Prior to joining the Academy as Commandant of the HMA cadets in February, 2018, COL Tate served four years as the Professor of Military Science at the Florida Institute of Technology, Vice President for Student Affairs and Commandant of Cadets at Marion Military Institute, and Director of the Center for Leadership and Career Development at Marion Military Institute.

Col Benson and COL Tate are of like mind relative to the education and development of our youth through the military model of college preparatory school education. The Board is confident of the continuity between Col Benson and COL Tate and excited about Howe's future. HMA appears to be on solid footing for the 2018/2019 school year as evidenced by the anticipated high retention rate of current cadets and the unprecedented number of incoming inquiries and applications.

Finally, the Board, staff and faculty, parents, and alumni thank Col Benson for his leadership, dedication, and inspirational contributions to the longevity of this Academy. Moreover, we wish him all the best in his consulting business and publication of his new book, titled "Executive Courage - Sometimes You Have to Walk Point."

For the Board,

Howe Observes its 133rd Graduation

General John F. Campbell Gives Address

General John F. Campbell Speaking to the Class of 2018

Battalion Commander Catherine Zhu Receiving Her Diploma from Colonel Benson

The 2018 graduating class of Howe Military Academy was sent off with tears, cheers, hugs, and well-wishes during a Commencement ceremony and program that took place the first weekend of June. For some seniors, the parade prior to Commencement marked the last military-style drill of their young careers. Guest speaker General John F. Campbell (Ret) followed the remarks of Valedictorian Jared Rosentreter and Salutatorian Catherine Zhu. He started by noting the graduates' "impressive" character saying, "They are a reminder of how little I had accomplished at their age." Gen. Campbell furthered his remarks by offering advice which included developing good personal relationships

"Howe has armed you with a strong moral character, critical thinking, and exemplary leadership skills. Quite frankly, with this foundation, there is nothing that you cannot do."

and being humble and kind. "Howe has armed you with a strong moral character, critical thinking, and exemplary leadership skills. Quite frankly, with this foundation, there is nothing that you cannot do," he said.

Future plans for the class of 2018 include college enrollment at universities such as Purdue, Michigan State, Ivy Tech, Indiana University and others. Intended courses of study range from physics, psychology and computer science to marketing, art design, nursing and elementary education, to name a few.

Earning the highest honors for the graduating class were Jared Rosentreter, Catherine Zhu and Avishek Sarkar.

News from the Dean of Academic Affairs

Angela Lehmer
Dean of Academic Affairs
alehmer@howemilitary.org

The 2017-2018 school year ended on June 2, 2018 with the final parade and the eighth grade completion and senior graduation ceremonies, which were held in Bouton Auditorium. All ten seniors that graduated will be attending either a technical/community college or a four-year college/university in the fall. The Academy has hired four new instructors for the 2018-2019 school year to teach Spanish, English 9 and 12, Chemistry/Math, and Art/P.E./Journalism. I will be stepping down as the Dean of Academics in June to return to the classroom full time this fall, where my real passion lies. I am pleased to introduce Theresa Jacobs, who will be taking over the position of Dean of Academics.

Theresa Jacobs earned her Bachelor of Science in Secondary Social Studies Education and History in 2002 from Defiance College, in Defiance, Ohio, and continued her educational goals at Defiance College by completing her Master of Arts in Education with a focus on Curriculum and Instruction in 2004. In 2012, Ms. Jacobs completed the Principal Leadership Program through Indiana Wesleyan University located in Marion, Indiana. In 2018, Ms. Jacobs earned both her Educational Specialist degree from Northcentral University, Prescott Valley, Arizona and the Doctorate of Education (all but dissertation) in Curriculum and Teaching.

Ms. Jacobs served as the Director of Alternative Education at Tri-Creek School Corporation, located in Lowell, Indiana, from 2005 - 2014. During her tenure at Tri-Creek School Corporation, Ms. Jacobs developed an alternative education program to meet the needs of academically at-risk students, a credit recovery program to maintain graduation rates, and developed and implemented a Data War Room with structured data teams to provide a true Response to an Intervention Program to meet the needs of all students.

While at Campagna Academy, Ms. Jacobs developed a Day Treatment Program that serviced at-risk juveniles in Lake County, Indiana. The program focused on Dialectical Behavior Therapy and educational services to help re-integrate that targeted population back into their communities. Ms. Jacobs served as a member of the Alternatives to Detention Program and developed the first Evening Reporting Program in Lake County to provide additional services for at-risk juvenile offenders.

Theresa is excited to begin this new journey and looks forward to taking Howe's academic department to the next level.

Spring Sports Review / New Coaches Hired

The Cadets athletic programs are already gearing up for next year with the hiring of two great coaches for soccer and volleyball in the fall. The first coach hired this spring, to lead our soccer program in the fall, is David Smith. Shortly after hiring Smith we were fortunate to discover and hire Stephanie Dunkel for girls volleyball. Both coaches bring a tremendous amount of experience to their respective sports and we look forward to their teams' success. The new coaches will be featured in the fall edition of the Howe Review.

The Spring 2018 season was a development year for the Cadets Lacrosse team. After losing some key players from last year, our cadets knew they had a challenge ahead of them. The team started off slow, but really learned how to play together and to keep battling no matter how much they were down by. The Cadets won their only game of the season against Argos and they did this with only 2 subs the whole game and demonstrated their toughness and will to win.

The captains of the team did a great job of leading and setting up the team's future for years to come. The captains were Jared Rosentreter, Avishek Sarkar, and returning senior, Will Martin. Cadet Martin had numerous 20 save games as goalie for the Cadets while the team was led in scoring by Bryan Ineich. Even though the Cadets will be sad to lose Rosentreter and Sarkar, they are very excited about returning Martin and Ineich with the rest of the improving team members.

Alumni Weekend Recap

In the Foreword of the 1968 Tatler, the graduating class pointedly inscribed their thoughts in becoming alumni of Howe Military Academy not only as experiencing “the reminiscent pondering of friends who have since parted ways;” but also by writing “the outstanding impression that will stand every Howe graduate in good stead for the rest of his/her life is the realization that he grew during his brief career as a Howe Cadet.” (Foreword, The Senior Class of 1968, Tatler, 1968)

David Wattles, Battalion Executive Officer for the class of 1968, stands with his honorary class on the reviewing stand as they receive applause prior to the 2018 Alumni Parade.

For the nearly 20 alumni from the Class of 1968 who reunited on the campus of Howe Military Academy for their Golden Anniversary during the 2018 Alumni Weekend, the realization of those words came full circle. Along with nearly 130 other alumni, the former Howe cadets were able to celebrate their memories, friendships and accomplishments.

Alumni Weekend events included the traditional Alumni Review Parade with Neal Ehrlich '68 serving as the HMA Honorary Colonel. Roman Lynch '68 carried the flag as alumni marched before the reviewing stand and its spectators. The most senior of the alumni classes that walked in the parade was the class of 1948, from which Richard (Dick) Hile '48, Dick Milholland '48 and John (Bill) Brill '48 marched.

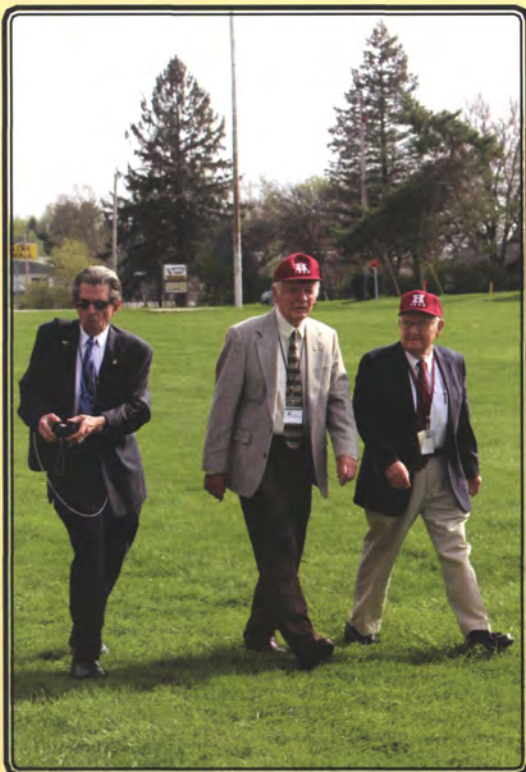

Roman Lynch '68 carries the flag while Neal Ehrlich '68 salutes as they lead the group of various alumni across the Parade Field.

One of the highlights from the list of attendees included Mr. Glenn Cox who taught government and social studies to Howe Military cadets for 42 years, beginning with the class of 1966. Another honored, retired staff member is Mr. John Pagin, HMA teacher for 40 years and honored guest at the 1968 class reunion dinner.

A special note of recognition needs to be given to the five members of the class of 1948 who made a return trip to Howe for their 70th reunion. They include John Brill, David Frederick, Richard Hile, Dick Milholland, and William Pellet. Richard Hile '48 claimed the title of being the "oldest alumnus at the reunion."

Other activities included a barbecue, breakfast with the cadets, a Question & Answer breakfast with Superintendent Col Jim Benson, a reception, and a memorial service. During the Alumni Reception, Karl Vaughn '77 was formally inducted as a Herrick Fellow.

Bill Brill '48, Dick Milholland '48, and Dick Hile '48 march together in the Alumni Parade while celebrating their 70th reunion.

Special thanks goes to Glenn Moore '67 for the many pictures he took to commemorate the weekend.

The Development office is already making plans for next year's Alumni Weekend celebration. The Class of 1969 will be honored for reaching their 50th year anniversary and all other reunion classes whose graduation year ends in a 4 or a 9 will be specifically honored. As always, all alumni are welcome and encouraged to participate.

A Heritage of Faith

MAJ Thurston Jones

Chaplain and Assistant Commandant

tjones@howemilitary.org

From its earliest years, Howe Military Academy has had a rich heritage of Christian faith embedded within its culture, which has carried it forward through difficult times, and still today sets it apart from so many boarding schools of its kind.

In our ever-changing culture, it is all the more important to hold to something (and truly Someone) that is unchanging. God in heaven is always the same; the same yesterday, today, and forever; and faith in Him gives us a stability, focus, and unity in an otherwise unstable and self-centered society. There is no greater joy than to see young men and women find comfort and hope in the One who gave his life for them.

At Howe, we have a set time each week to pause and worship our Creator and thank Him for the wonderful Salvation provided through the resurrection of Jesus Christ. We read scripture straight from the Bible and sing hymns of praise together. We learn practical lessons of faith and brotherly love from people of old such as Joseph, Ruth, David, Esther, and Daniel who overcame great obstacles to live happy, healthy lives in spite of their difficult situations.

While we are a non-denominational Christian school, cadets of other faiths and cultures still find Howe Military a very welcoming home. We respect the individuality of each person's choice to believe or not believe in our Christian faith and to accept or reject salvation in Christ Jesus. But as an independent school that has been in existence since the 1800s, we are proud of our Christian heritage. Our faith is a part of how we began; it is part of who we are; and by God's grace, it is a part of who we will always be.

God bless Howe Military Academy,

MAJ Thurston Jones

Chaplain and Assistant Commandant

For you are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus. For all of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free man, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus. – Galatians 3:26-28

HMA Character and Leadership Lecture Series Wrap-Up

Congressman Jim Banks

Ray Rottman, Col USAF (Ret)

Ford S. Braun '79

Continuing in the spirit of inspiration and motivation, eight speakers have addressed the cadets, faculty, and staff of Howe Military Academy during the bi-weekly Character and Leadership Lecture Series that Col Jim Benson began in February 2018.

The 2017-2018 academic year came to a close with cadets hearing the words of the following speakers during the month of May:

- Congressman Jim Banks, Rep. from the 3rd District of Indiana;
- Raymond Rottman, Colonel USAF (Ret) and Executive Director of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the United States.; and
- Alumnus, Ford S. Braun '79, commercial airline pilot for JetBlue.

Congressman Banks' speech emphasized public service. "Leadership is public service – you must serve others," Banks said. He encouraged the cadets to aspire to be public servants and serve the public in significant ways. Public servants, he said, include teachers, government officials, and peace officers.

On May 16th, Col Rottman spoke of a poem titled "The Dash" by Linda Ellis which emphasizes the line on a tombstone that is placed between the date of birth and the date of death. The line represents the life that was lived. "Live today to build your dash and make it significant," Rottman said.

Braun '79 demonstrated to the cadets the HMA tie pin that he received from Howe Military Academy. He proudly wears the HMA tie pin every day he's at work and has so for the past 34 years, he said.

In his remarks, Braun told those present that as a cadet at HMA, he had been taught the acronym GODF which stands for Grounded, Organized, Disciplined and Focused. He described each principal in detail, telling cadets:

- Grounded = Have faith, help others, lead with honor
- Organized = Set realistic goals, have a plan
- Disciplined = Don't get distracted, stay out of trouble
- Focused = Expect change, never give up

"GODF made me who I am. It has been critical to my success," Braun said.

The Leadership Lecture Series will continue in the fall as the 2018-2019 academic year begins. Upon completion of each lecture, the Corps passes in review to honor the speaker. Attendance by guests, alumni, parents and friends of the academy is encouraged, and there is no charge. For more information, visit our webpage at www.howemilitary.org.

Generous Donations Reach $75,000 to Make New Weight Room/Fitness Center a Reality

HMA parents and alumni have come together once again, this time to oversee the fulfillment of a state of the art weight-training and fitness facility.

David Hackett '51 and his wife, Krystyna, responded to the need outlined in an address by Col Jim Benson speaking to the benefits of sound body and sound mind. The Hacketts demonstrate a tradition of annual gifting to various institutions and decided to focus this year's gift on the new HMA weight room/fitness center, providing just over $60,000 towards its creation. "I think that the weight room can have a positive impact on the cadets from a health standpoint and their self-esteem," Hackett '51 said.

In addition, three HMA families each contributed a $5,000 monetary gift, allowing the cadets at Howe the privilege of utilizing a new, $75,000 weight room/fitness center complete with top-of-the-line equipment. Sincere thank you to the families of John and Lisa Didier, Bruce and Candace Matthews, and David and Traci Tate for their generous contributions.

Additionally, David and Traci Tate are dedicating their professional insight as owners of Elite FTS, Inc., to guide the design and implementation of not only the center itself, but also the top-of-the-line fitness and weight training equipment within.

The new weight room will be located on the main floor of the Lower School Gymnasium. Construction begins this month with a completion deadline set in time for cadets to utilize its full benefits this fall.

Faculty and Staff Awards

Teacher of the Year - Ms. Olga Brezden

Her ability to inspire cadets to maintain high academic standards, demonstrate self-discipline and maintain a positive attitude has earned Ms. Olga Brezden the 2017-2018 HMA Teacher of the Year award. Ms. Brezden teaches Math.

The award is made possible through an endowment established by the Class of 1951 to recognize an outstanding teacher who honors the HMA mission of preparing global leaders by providing a rigorous education grounded in Christian values within a structured military environment. A tangible gift of 5% of the endowment was presented to Ms. Brezden for demonstrating all of the following:

- Excellence in the classroom
- Involvement and interaction with the cadets academically, spiritually, and in leadership;
- Interaction with the admissions office and recruiting;
- Interaction with the advancement office and special weekend events; and
- Positive attitude toward the Academy, faculty, staff, parents, and the cadet corps.

Staff Member of the Year - Mr. Michael Reed

Col. Benson presented the 2017-2018 HMA Staff Member of the Year award to Michael Reed, Director of Technology and Digital Marketing for his efficient, creative determination to maintain the high standards of digital marketing and computer programming that keep HMA accessible, online, and in color.

The award is made possible through an endowment presented by the Class of 1955 to provide additional compensation to high-performing faculty and staff members. Mr. Reed's performance and dedication to the technological advancement of the Academy has contributed greatly to HMA's overall success.

Charles Bishop Receives Honor

Members of the Varsity Howe Club recognized Charles "Chuck" Bishop, Elite Master Scuba Diver Trainer, with an Honorary Varsity Letter for going above and beyond the regular duties required by the faculty and staff in support of the athletic program. Mr. Bishop puts Howe Military Academy on the map by making this the only school in the country to offer PADI training and certification at the high school level. Cadets gain skills in the pool on campus and earn certifications through supervised scuba diving trips with Mr. Bishop to various lakes and ocean reefs all over the world.

President's Quarters Renovation

Renovations to the President's Quarters has begun with the installation of a new metal roof in early June. Renovations will continue through the summer. The Commandant's Quarters are also being updated.

The President's Quarters, fondly referred to as the Cannon House because of the historic cannons creating a landmark in two corners of its yard, will be appropriately named the Paul E. Burns Quarters, honoring the generous gift bestowed from HMA alumnus and Trustee, Michael Burns '69, in memory of his father, Dr. Paul E. Burns.

New Metal Roof on the Paul E. Burns President's Quarters

In a recent letter to the Alumni, Col. Benson stated "both sets of quarters were approaching uninhabitable conditions and would significantly detract from the Academy's ability to hire exceptional leaders."

A sincere thank you to Michael Burns '69 whose timely and significant gift to the Academy made the renovations possible. Burns '69 has made a career of helping others through his law practice. He currently serves on the Board of Trustees and has also served with the Howe Military School Alumni Association.

His father, Dr. Paul E. Burns (1910-1988), also spent his life in the service of others. He was known within the community for his dedication as a school teacher, public servant, philanthropist, physician, and surgeon.

The last updates to the President's Quarters on record were completed during the years of 1981-1984 during which the residence received the addition of a sun porch, and improvements in insulation, roofing, and air conditioning.
