Summer is finally here! What a great year at Howe Military School!

May is always a very busy month, filled with many events and activities. We begin with Alumni Weekend, which went extraordinarily well. The 50th reunion class of 1953 and all of the anniversary classes seemed to have an exceptionally good turnout and everyone had a lot of fun! It was really great to see all of our alumni brothers and sisters back on campus.

Mother's Day Weekend follows a week later. The weather cooperated; and 500+ cadets, parents and their guests thoroughly enjoyed a lovely weekend.

May 31st, commencement! It was exciting and rewarding to see our seniors cross the stage and become alumni! We are extremely proud of this fine group of young men and women, who will become great leaders in our world! We will miss them. Summer camp, under the very capable leadership of Camp Director, William McClish, and Commandant, Captain Kevin Bouma, is off to a great start. We opened with 119 campers and only have a few beds left, which we expect to fill soon. This should prove to be an excellent camp year!

The 2003 school year looks promising with retention looking good at this early point. Many, well-rounded candidates are applying for fall enrollment. Our future looks great!

The campus is looking terrific and I invite you to stop by any time. Have a great summer!

Quest for the Best The Exchange of Leadership

Marie Savage '04

Being the first female Battalion Commander of Howe Military School is an honor. This recognition is extremely overwhelming for me. I am proud of the accomplishments I have made while attending HMS for the past five years. I have come a long way and worked hard to develop my character, academics, and leadership skills. I could not have done this without the support of my family, friends, and faculty of Howe Military School. I am grateful to them all. I am quite anxious, yet nervous, to take on the responsibility of Battalion Commander; but with my staff and company commanders, I know this coming year will be a good one."

A Well-deserved Promotion Meet the New BC

Cadet Marie Savage wins the following awards for the 2002 school year:

National Honor Society Certificate — Candidates are selected from the junior and senior classes and may qualify for membership with a 3.0 cumulative GPA and must also be outstanding in leadership, service, scholarship, and character.

Frances M. Howe Medal for Christian Courtesy — Presented to the junior cadet who demonstrated the most Christian courtesy throughout his or her tenure at Howe.

Major Merritt Sword & Medal — Presented to the most outstanding non-commissioned officer of the Howe Military School cadet corps. Selection is based on morale and military, academic, athletic and all other school activities.

Cadet Savage receives Major Merritt sword and medal during Mother's Day Weekend.

John A. Pugin Economics Award — Recipients of these medals excelled in college level economics, were aware of problems inherent in major economic systems, exhibited an abiding curiosity for the discipline of economics, and were able to write essays on all aspects of current economic dilemmas.

Academic Excellence Award — This program is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education and recognizes and honors students who have achieved high academic goals by their hard work and dedication to learning. Cadets must maintain a required GPA and have test scores within established percentile levels as set forth by the National Association of Secondary School Principals to be eligible for one of two honors: the President's Award for Educational Excellence or the President's Award for Educational Achievement.

Outstanding Non-Commissioned Officer Medal — Presented to the outstanding non-commissioned officer of the cadet corps.

Cadet Savage was also named to the Superintendent's List six times during the 2002-03 school year.

Marie Savage is the daughter of William and Chung Mei Savage of Howe. She has been attending Howe Military School since August 1999. Her sister, Su-Mei, graduated from Howe in 2002 and her brother, Tony, will be a sophomore in August.

A Home Away From Home

Eleni K. Mitropoulos, Battalion Executive Officer, Class of 2004.

How About Howe"? That was the first thing I heard about Howe Military School when I was twelve years old and in seventh grade. I toured the school three times before I attended, and finally decided to start my second semester in February of 1998. I had always been in small Catholic schools before, so Howe was a significant change for me, especially because the age range was so different from what I was used to. Six years is a long time...about half of my childhood. That is how long I have been a cadet at Howe Military School.

The lessons that Howe helped me learn are priceless. The memories are endless, and the friendships are something that will last until the end of time. All of the staff members are extremely professional when it comes to dealing with children or young adults. As soon as I arrived, I felt incredibly welcome and respected.

Attending Howe as a girl is different from a boy's experience. The number of girls in Alpha Company has varied throughout the years, the most being in the high thirties and the least being in the twenties. I am not going to say that it is easy living with a bunch of girls, but in the end it all works out very nicely. Living with all of them has taught me many things, such as learning how to make lasting friendships, dealing with bickering, standing up for myself, and speaking my opinions respectfully.

This coming year will be my final year at Howe; and while I will miss being there every day, I will always know that I have a "home away from home". Being there for so long showed me how people can act, deal, and react to certain things. The teachers have wonderful relationships with students...many of them are more than teachers to most students. They are compassionate and understanding, yet firm mentors. The teachers at Howe are genuine and care about the school.

Over the years I have held many leadership positions, but I am most excited about the upcoming year because my best friend, Marie Savage, and I are going to be making history. She is the first female Battalion Commander, and I will be her trustworthy right hand, the Battalion Executive Officer. This makes the first time that two females have been the top officers. I am filled with the utmost excitement, and am pleased that we could both achieve these positions. We are the leaders of the school who must show everyone what Howe is about.

Howe's sports and clubs programs are extensive. Being involved in every club and sport that I can is tiring, but at the same time it is too much fun to stop.

Although our sports teams may not win every time, we still have the heart to win and the toughness to stick it out until the end of the game. Clubs are also fun, and all of the cadets on campus are in something called a "CAP Group". These groups are led by teachers or other staff members who take their group out for fun (usually off-campus) to a pizza place, bowling alley, etc. Howe keeps everyone busy, which is one of the things I like most.

The alumni of Howe mean a great deal to me. They have gone through the same things we have, and know what Howe is all about. These are some of the people I have the most respect for, because they simply understand how you feel and have been in your "place". About 97% of all Howe graduates go on to college, and it is a well-known fact that most of the older alumni have been successful business people who are also the core support of the school.

Howe is everything to me, and it has taught me a great deal. I have briefly explained to you why I love Howe and what it has done for me; and with these words, I can only hope that you understand the extensiveness of what Howe means to me. I hope I have emphasized to you, not only the importance of a well-balanced education and learning experience, but what it means when you receive that very thing.

Take the Challenge

An equal chance for young women at HMS

The term, "separate, but equal", does not apply to Howe Military School. Since the addition of females in 1988, we have provided a fully integrated, truly co-educational experience. Without losing traditions that have withstood the test of time, Howe has successfully developed a curriculum that can benefit every cadet, male or female.

At HMS, a girl is not judged by what she wears or her connections. Rather, she is given the opportunity to advance on the basis of her talents, strengths and effort. What can a young woman gain from attending Howe Military School - a genuinely unique educational experience, in which we develop the whole person - mentally, physically and spiritually. If she applies herself in our program, she can become more mature, responsible and self-motivated. She can be instilled with a sense of honor and pride. In a learning environment that extends far beyond the classroom, a female cadet can reach heights she never thought possible.

Unlocking her potential

You know she has the ability for a promising and bright future. The determination for personal excellence and achievement has to come from the cadet - and we can help her develop the path to success.

At HMS, we teach a cadet to be an individual first and foremost, while never losing the sense of esprit de corps she feels from being part of the cadet battalion. Being a cadet does not mean being a tomboy - we do not want a female cadet to compromise her femininity, but rather become a self-reliant woman. She is given the same opportunity as the male cadets, and with equal opportunity comes equal expectations. We expect all of our cadets to live up to high ideals. If we demand certain standards from our students, their performance can rise to the challenge, and in turn they can learn to expect greater things of themselves.

Academics — A solid college preparatory education is the most important aspect of our program. In both the lower and upper schools, we prepare our students to pursue higher education by stressing traditional study methods and "getting back to basics" academically. From our small class sizes to our advanced computer technology, a student will be provided with a strong academic background that can serve as a foundation for learning the rest of her life.

Character — At Howe, we train students, not soldiers. Our structured and disciplined program encompasses several essential areas of development for any young adult, including time management, organizational skills, and co-operation. The JROTC program is a catalyst by which we teach our cadets these important traits. We teach cadets to face each day with newfound self-confidence and take on every challenge with an inner motivation that knows no bounds.

Leadership — Leaders aren't born, they're made. At HMS, we provide the tools necessary for a girl to become a successful leader. At first, a new cadet is a follower, learning her role as part of a team. With time and experience, she can take on additional responsibilities and leadership positions. She can learn that leadership is not about just giving orders, but rather an opportunity to lead by example, tending to the needs and concerns of subordinates, while keeping the greater task at hand in mind.

Athletics - Physical activity is an integral part of any complete education. Through athletics, female cadets can not only become physically fit, but gain an invaluable sense of self-esteem and teamwork. Cadets are required to participate in two sports each year. For girls, we offer varsity volleyball, basketball, cheerleading, softball and tennis. Co-educational participation is also available in cross country, swimming, track and field, rifle, golf and soccer.

The time is now

There will never be a better time than right now. The quest for a quality education has become increasingly prominent and exceedingly important. At Howe, we've been answering that call for over 118 years, providing a fundamentally sound program that can prepare a young woman not only for college, but for the rest of her life.

Every day she will be challenged, and she'll find out just how far she can go. The word, "can't", will disappear and she will know that with proper self-motivation, anything is possible.

If you know a girl who aspires for excellence, has the ability to do college preparatory work and is of good character, she may qualify for admission. We encourage you to phone, write or email us and set up an on-campus interview time.

Facts . . .

1. HMS is one of only 12 secondary boarding schools in the United States that offer a co-educational JROTC program.
2. Over 350 females have attended HMS since 1988.
3. Thirty percent of the current faculty is female.
4. Female graduates have been accepted to Indiana University, Valparaiso University, Michigan State University, Purdue University, the Merchant Marine Academy and many other fine schools.
5. Female alumnae have gone on to successful careers in a variety of areas, including international commerce, financial consulting, accounting, nursing, hotel management and the armed forces.

Commencement — 2003

A time of pride and achievements

Hitting the beaches was far from the minds of the class of 2003 as they lined up for the processional into Bouton Auditorium. It may have been a rainy day, but the spirits of twenty-five seniors were not dampened by a black sky.

Salutatorian, Diana Richardson, and valedictorian, Aaliyah McNary, gave heartwarming speeches that left very few, if any, dry eyes. Diana began her address by saying she didn't know what was expected in a speech like this, so she would just talk. She continued with, "all that comes to mind are feelings of fear, ambition, apprehension, bliss; you name it and I'm feeling it. How can I write a speech that includes every moment, every emotion, and everything that this school has done for me, or even at times taken away?"

Diana stated that she did not expect to be at Howe for as long as she had. Hoping her first year would be her last, she tried to weasel her way back home every chance she got. Almost any teacher at Howe could attest to the fact that before every break they would hear her say, "I won't be coming back!" However, she came to appreciate the place that she never wanted to be at in the first place. Howe made her appreciate the concept of a home and brought out qualities in her that she didn't think would be there until later in life.

Diana was not afraid to admit that she was diagnosed with depression a year earlier and that she was bipolar. Although she can never fully rid herself of something like this, she now has more control of the situation than she did before. Diana shared this information, not for pity, for she knows she is far from alone when it comes to this disease; but to let everyone know that when you have the right surroundings it is possible to jump any hurdle. She thanked everyone for their support through some difficult times. "If it wasn't for the support of many, I would not be standing here in front of you today", said Diana.

Let us do this together

Having sat through three, previous graduation ceremonies, valedictorian, Aaliyah McNary, told herself that if she ever had the opportunity to be up on this stage to speak, she would know exactly what to say. She found the words did not flow as easily as she thought they would.

Aaliyah acknowledged that many here had helped her in some way to get to this milestone in her life. "My family, especially my parents, has always been my support. They taught me that no matter what, I will always have someone there who believes in me, someone to care, someone to push me in the right direction. Without your love and your support, I do not think I would be standing here today. My teachers have taught me how to learn, excel, and strive to be whatever I want to be. I learned quickly that I could not get very far with crocodile tears or the flash of a smile. It is you who taught me to strive to be the best. You taught me to keep my head up high and be proud of my accomplishments. You taught me how to look in the mirror and love what I see. You taught me to never be ashamed. My friends, my peers - I say that it is you who have taught me the most. You taught me how to love and that it is just not worth my time to hate. You showed me how to laugh and have a good time and taught me that I do not always have to be so serious. I do not think that I have stopped smiling since. You made me realize that no matter how great a person I am, not everyone is going to like me; and, now I know, that is really okay. From you I learned how to find the good in every bad. I learned how to trust and what to do when someone lets me down. I know now how to pick my battles. Not everything is worth my tears. Thank you, all of you."

Aaliyah reminded the underclassmen of one thing. Cherish every moment you have. Do not even waste one. You will never find the lasting friendships that you have gained here, anywhere else. You will be able to do so much if you allow Howe to help you help yourself. These are the good old days that you are going to miss. Please don't be foolish. There are empty seats that are no longer reserved for members of our class who allowed foolishness to fill their lives with regret. Use us as your example. Use judgment to choose the path that will lead you to success.

Orrin Hatch once said, "There is a good reason they call these ceremonies 'commencement exercises'." Graduation is not the end; it's the beginning." Today, when we walk across the stage, we are walking into the beginning of the rest of our lives. I know that you are just as scared as you are excited; because believe me, I feel the same way. Yes, today I will graduate from high school-but not just me-WE-we will graduate from high school. We have lived together, played together, laughed together, and cried together. Now has come the time for us to graduate. So let us do this - together.

Larger Lessons of Life

bsmith@howemilitary.com

Good discipline contains a boy and his energy, providing the sense of physical and emotional security he needs in order to learn the larger lessons of self-control and moral behavior...Good discipline engages a child, encourages contact instead of isolation, draws him into discussion, instead of sending him away."

This is a passage from the landmark book Raising Cain: Protecting the Emotional life of Boys by Drs. Dan Kindlon and Michael Thompson. After more than a quarter of a century working with young people and their parents, these two, nationally recognized psychologists have produced a piece that I think really breaks through to the most inner struggles of today's youth, boys and girls.

As I recently read this book, I was repeatedly reminded of ways that Howe Military School reaches into the lives and minds of young people. Since 1884, Howe's private, boarding, military approach in working with youth has done just this. Through our structured program and daily regimen, I believe we successfully contain their youthful energy and provide security for our students to prepare for college. Kindlon and Thompson describe this as learning the "larger lessons of self-control and moral behavior". Not a day passes at Howe when our cadets are not engaged in the lessons of their own discipline. Through the consistent guidance of our rules and regulations, under the patient guidance of our faculty and staff, Howe students internalize discipline for life. Regular worship and spiritual teaching strongly internalizes moral standards.

Howe's enrollment for the 2002 school year increased over last year. Two hundred twenty-two students attended Howe this year, representing a 4% increase over last year. Our retention of former students significantly improved this year. I believe our enrollment increases reflect Howe's commitment to a program that does internalize the "larger lessons" of life. Howe engages our students in the lessons they so desperately need in a world committed to moral relativism.

Since our founding in 1884, our global society has experienced a widespread, fundamental revolution in worldview. Though the stressors on youth and families have changed in nature and intensity, the inner lives of young people remain the same. Ask any Howe graduate of any class and I believe they will tell you that Howe gave them the security and guidance to be engaged in the tough lessons of self-discipline and morality. That is why Howe Military School is growing today. Like the above passage from Kindlon and Thompson, Howe's procedures for guiding kids engages young people—not isolates them. As an independent school, Howe is free to encourage the kind of spiritual and moral development that tax-supported schools are prohibited from doing.

How many American schools today actually engage their students in the larger lessons of self-control and morality? How many families with whom you have contact are desperately in need of the kind of education Howe provides?

As an ambassador for Howe Military School, I encourage you to tell others what Howe has meant to you. Encourage parents to call Admissions and schedule a campus visit. Urge them to meet our Admissions' staff when we are in your local area to meet families; better yet, offer to bring them to an Admissions reception. Never in any other period of time has youth more seriously needed the guiding hand of adults, partnering with educators in enabling students to internalize the "larger lessons" of life.

In a time when parents are seriously looking for schools that will engage their children in a quality, college preparatory education, Howe Military School stands as a model in addressing the needs of kids today.

Campus Open Houses

Registration for all open houses begins at 9:30 a.m. (Indiana time). An informative program is scheduled for 10:00 a.m., followed by campus tours, a complimentary lunch, and an opportunity to take our entrance exam and be interviewed.

Clearly a Winning Year

jmalerich@howemilitary.com

Another school year has come and gone, and I am pleased with the successes accomplished by our cadets, faculty, and staff. There have been a few bumps along the way, but everyone managed to work their way through those not so easy to deal with at times. You can "hold your heads high." I salute all of you for your untiring efforts to make Howe Military School what it is today. Let's do it for another 118 years!

I am also pleased to note another outstanding accomplishment related to the President's Education Award. This award is based on standardized test scores, as well as overall grade point averages, and is presented to cadets at the commencement ceremony over graduation weekend who meet stringent criteria. Cadets must maintain a required GPA and have test scores within established percentile levels as set forth by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. Ordinarily, only four or five cadets meet the criteria. On May 31, 2003, thirty-five cadets received the President's Education Award for academic achievement and excellence.

During the commencement exercises, Diana Richardson, salutatorian, and Aaliyah McNary, valedictorian, gave their commencement speeches. I can honestly say that I have never been more moved by any such addresses.

Both cadets addressed what HMS is all about and what it has meant to them. The Class of 2003 is to be commended. I wish you all my best as you pursue your dreams. No doubt, they will be achieved.

Finally, once again I cannot thank cadets, faculty, and staff enough for making this past year one of my most enjoyable and memorable. Everyone, have a great summer; and I look forward to seeing you in late August, as we embark on what I hope will be an even more productive year for our cadets, faculty, and staff.

We are already working diligently in preparation for the upcoming school year. I feel confident that next year will be as successful for cadets as was this last. In my last report, I mentioned that the cadets got off to a good start for the first six weeks of the first semester. The overall grade point average for the first six weeks of this semester was 2.824, an outstanding effort. I do not recall during my tenure at HMS any initial grade point average being higher. Obviously, there is hope that overall grade point averages will improve, but sometimes that does not happen. Well, the cadets continued to achieve during the year, and they finished the final six weeks of the school year with an overall 2.841 grade point average and a 2.802 grade point average for the second semester. Again, I offer my congratulations to cadets, as well as faculty and staff who made that possible.

I am pleased to note that 50% of the cadets made honor grades for the last grading period, meaning that they had to achieve at least a 3.0 on a 4.0 scale. That percentage has been fairly typical throughout the year.

On the Move

William Decker, Ext. 243
wdecker@howemilitary.com

The 100th anniversary year of the Lower School can best be described by saying that we were constantly "on the move."

Not including the extensive travel of our ten sports teams, and academic travel for such events as the science fair and spelling bee, cadets of the Lower School took part in 17 field trips this school year. While not all students attended all of the field trips; no "F" conduct cadets were allowed on trips and some events were for special groups such as "Honors" or various clubs, the majority of our cadets attended multiple outings.

Cadets Rigsby, Epstein, Canacci and Rose arrive at Kalamazoo Air Zoo

While many of our trips were for largely educational purposes such as The Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, regional historical sites, The Dead Sea Scrolls, Maplewood Nature Preserve and Western Michigan University; other trips like Pokagon State Park's Toboggan, Laser Tag, and the Fun Spot Amusement Park were strictly for fun.

Because the cadets are on campus seven days per week, some have not traditionally had the chance to take advantage of these kinds of trips; which, if the cadets were at home, would normally be conducted by family and friends. The entire Lower School faculty was directly involved with these events, of which 11 were outside the normal "work week".

In brief, we feel that we presented the cadets with chances to get off-campus, have some fun, learn things outside the classroom, and provided the sense of "family" for which Howe is known.

Cadets Pelfrey, Lassiter and Hopkins enjoy Smith Field

William Decker will be teaching social studies in the Upper School next year and has been named the department head. We have enjoyed his articles for the Howe Review and wish him well in his new position.

Jessica Montgomery has been named the new principal of the Lower School and has been busy at work this summer in preparation for her new duties.

Jessica joined the Howe family in December of 1996. She first served as the science master in the lower school, grades 6 - 8. The following year she became the fifth grade master and taught in that self-contained classroom for six years. She has also been an instructor at the Howe Summer Camp since 1998 and served as the assistant academic program director.

During her time at HMS, Ms. Montgomery has been active in many athletic teams. She coached high school volleyball and 8th grade basketball from 1997 - 2000. For the past three years she has coached both the 7th and 8th grade basketball teams. She has been the advisor of the lower school Varsity Howe Club and is a member of the school's Old Guard. During the 2003 commencement, she was awarded as an honorary member of the Varsity Club.

Jessica graduated from Tri-State University, where she played for the women's basketball team for four years. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education. Along with her teaching license, she also has a Middle School Science Endorsement. Ms. Montgomery is currently pursuing her master's degree in administration. You can reach Jessica at: jmontgomery@howemilitary.com or ext. 243.

It Takes Vision

Leanne DeFelice, Ext. 240
ldefelice@howemilitary.com

At Howe Military School, each athlete has a vision to win at least one game and for the Howe cadets their dreams were fulfilled as the spring sports season turned out to be a fairly successful one. We had a very large number of cadets out for spring sports, which was great to see.

The golf, track and baseball teams all finished second in their respective, conference tournaments and the track team finished second at the Tingley Invitational. A large number of cadets also made All-Conference teams. On the track All-Conference team was Yevgeniy Tehkneryadov in discus, Jim Knight in the 110 high hurdles, and David Kuelczo in the 1600 meter. On the softball All-Conference team (first time we've had three players in one year make the All-Conference team), were Jennifer Jarmuszka, Eleni Mitropoulos and Marie Savage. The baseball players making All-Conference were Michael Luker, Clinton Sheward, and David Kuelczo. Finally, making the All-Conference team in golf was Michael King.

Congratulations to all of our athletes!

A new sound system has been installed in the gym. Although no system would be perfect in such a wide open facility, the new system sounds wonderful. We should get plenty of use from this system with our sporting events, dances, and social events.

The Howe athletic program has a new project in the works. Due to wear and tear, the wiring in our baseball scoreboard has seen better days. As the wiring wore out, it burned up some of the inner parts of the scoreboard and control panel. Some estimates for a new "Poljak Field" sign and scoreboard were received. The estimated cost is $6000.00. The Howe Parents' Association and the Alumni Association have graciously agreed to donate $3000.00 each to cover this cost. Jake Poljak dedicated his life to Howe Military School and absolutely loved Howe baseball, thus the field was dedicated in his memory.

I will be leaving the position of Athletic Director to be the full time Dean of Students. Taking over as the new Athletic Director will be Tony DeFelice. You may reach Tony at 260-562-2131, ext. 240 or via email at tdefelice@howemilitary.com.

New Archivist

Roger Zuercher, Ext. 273

The mansion at Howe Military School is a tangible symbol of the traditions we learned about as we wound our way through life at Howe.

Its holdings, such as military mementos, academic, church and sports items, remind us of how lucky we were in those days and helped us as adults to be the best we could be.

The mansion holds these mementos, but it also needs care. There are many concerns that need to be addressed to protect our traditions: painting, period pieces from the Victorian era, security systems and an environmentally healthy atmosphere.

I will be looking for your help. We need to build on the wonderful job that Tom Merritt started.

Dr. Roger Zuercher '57, formerly of Ft. Wayne, IN and a graduate of the school, has been appointed to the office of school historian and archivist.

The school itself was founded in 1884, but one of its first buildings was constructed in 1875. This building served eventually as the Superintendent's home, the Administration Building, and now as a museum and repository for historical materials.

It is open to the public by appointment. Be prepared to walk back into the past - through high teas, battlefield helmets, and a library of old books.

All Charged Up

Major Karl Vaughn, Ext. 275

As my first year as Commandant is completed, I look back over the past nine months; not only on the physical growth of our cadets, but also on the growth of maturity and responsibility hopefully learned by them. It is wished that they use these skills for making the right decisions in life and leadership traits to help them realize that we are all the same.

This will be the first time since 1998 that the Commandant position will be held by the same person for two consecutive years. All primary tactical officers will again return to their companies. All this, with the return of MSG Satterfield, add up to an even better school year for 2003.

In addition to the transportation duties, I will again be in charge of an ever-growing activities agenda for the next school year, so look for more off-campus trips offered to those eligible cadets.

Our Equestrian Horseback Program will expand its visibility at on and off-campus events. Look for sign-up at fall registration and remember that class size is limited.

I look forward to working with the students in the coming year.

New Boathouse at Summer Camp

Max Taylor, Ext. 237
mtaylor@howemilitary.com

On Saturday, July 19, the new, Bob James boathouse was dedicated. Bob was honored for his 47 years of service as the waterfront director at the camp. The new boathouse was made possible through a generous donation from Mr. John C. White of Scottsdale, AZ. Mr. White was a past camper and counselor at summer camp and was present for the ceremony, where he was also inducted into the Herrick Fellow Society. The building was completed just in time for the beginning of summer camp and is now in daily use. Lucky campers!

Renovations on the tactical officers' apartments are complete. The tactical officers and their families are enjoying their well deserved extra space.

The electrical services project which began last year is in the process of completion. When the work is finished, the campus will have all new transformers and updated wiring. This project is expected to bring greater efficiency and substantial financial savings. Mr. Jeff Leu of River Run Power was the contractor for this project. He and his staff did an outstanding job.

Knapp Roofing is putting new roofs on St. James Chapel, All Saints Chapel and the Athletic Complex press box. Partial roofs and substantial repairs are being done on the Mess Hall, White Hall Gym and the Hardiman House.

The old, inefficient boilers in the Quartermaster Building, D Company and B Company have been replaced. These new boilers will provide greater efficiency, consistent warmth throughout the buildings and lower heating costs.

The 118th corps of cadets had a busy 2nd semester. I've listed just some of the highlights.

The H.M.S. JROTC Battalion had its formal inspection on February 10, 2003. Notre Dame University's ROTC Department inspected the corps. We scored 98 out of a possible 100 points; again, the battalion received the highest rating possible "Honor Unit with Distinction".

The rifle team finished its season in April. The team finished 2nd in both the high school and college leagues; one of the highlights of the year was an overnight trip to Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Western's ROTC rifle team treated our team to a hockey game and a movie on Friday, and then we toured Western's campus and the Kalamazoo Air Zoo on Saturday.

The 9th Annual Copp Drill Competition was held on Alumni Weekend; a total of six schools attended. The entire event is planned and managed by the LET 2 class, as their major project for the year. Cadets Tony Savage and Chris Smock took 1st place in the Exhibition Duet competition, 2nd place in Exhibition and Best Inspection and 3rd in Platoon IDR. Their win qualified the two to compete at the National Drill Competition in San Antonio, Texas in September. Next year the drill competition will again be held on Alumni Weekend.

Cadets participated in parades in South Bend, Indiana for St. Patrick's Day and, again, in Sturgis for the Michigan Week kickoff parade.

The Class of 1953 donated a jeep to the school for use during reviews and ceremonies. On behalf of Howe Military School, we thank them for their generosity and we are sure the jeep will be of great use during many of our events.

On Memorial Day the corps of cadets marched down to the Riverside Cemetery in Howe and participated in the town's annual ceremony. In the afternoon the corps enjoyed a cookout behind the canteen and The Superintendent's Field Day with games, activities and even a jello-eating contest. This event was planned, organized, and ran by the LET 3 class. It was a nice break for the cadets just prior to final exams.

Good Things Come in Bundles

George Douglass, Deacon, Ext. 215

The chapel program has moved into the summer camp mode after a successful school year.

The school year was completed with over 60 cadets serving as acolytes, ten supporting the evening and Sunday services as readers and two Jewish cadets serving as cantors. The cantor program is in its second year and is an integral part of Friday night vespers and the Sunday parish and cadet services. We are fortunate to have Cadets Epstein, a 7th grader, and Harper, an 8th grader, who both say prayers at the beginning and end of each service. The prayers are given in both Hebrew and English and remind the cadets of our Jewish tradition and respect for all religions. Cadet Harper supported the Howe community's memorial service at Riverside Cemetery by giving the invocation again in both Hebrew and English. This addition to the annual Memorial Day ceremony was well received by the community and cadets alike. To recognize the cantor, Fr. Yaw and I have instituted a pin, which is worn on the garrison or academic uniform. This pin is in the shape of the ten commandment tablet with the Star of David above the tablet.

Cadet Emma Baker '03, a longtime cadet acolyte, was selected by WNDU Channel 16, South Bend, as one of the regions outstanding high school seniors. A video of Ms. Baker made by Channel 16, and a brief history, were aired on Channel 16 throughout June. Ms. Baker was adopted from a Russian orphanage at the age of 11, came to the United States, and lives in Kalamazoo. She attended Howe for four years and will enter pre-veterinary studies at Purdue University.

A delegation of cadets, along with Duane VanOrden '77, Jim Malerich and George Douglass '60 traveled to Jackson, Michigan to take part in a memorial service for Travis Wakefield "Tap" Pearse, father of Trav Pearse '66. Our cadets were honored to fold the national flag and present it to Trav's sister at the service. Trav's father was a veteran of WWII, Asian Theater, serving there as a naval officer. After the memorial service the cadets were invited to the Jackson Country Club for fellowship and refreshment.

This year the offerings for each of the festival services in All Saints Chapel were designated for those in need. For example, monies were donated to the LaGrange Clothing and Food Basket and to two, separate deputy sheriffs' families who suffered the loss of the deputy's wife. In both cases, the death of the respective wife incurred expenses and the monies went to defray those costs and to establish a trust fund for the children's college. One deputy was from LaGrange County (I am one of the chaplains to the LaGrange County Sheriff's Department) and the second deputy was from LaPorte County, Indiana. The plight of the LaPorte deputy was brought to our attention by Michael P. Kellems '83, who is a sergeant with the LaPorte County Sheriff's Department. The offering from the Alumni Weekend service was designated for the LaPorte deputy. All donations supported the schools outreach program.

With regards to our chapel services, Fr. Yaw has been offering the Sunday Holy Communion services for all members of the armed services. HMS has over 28 alumni who are serving or who have served in the Iraqi and Afghanistan conflicts. In addition, the chaplains include in the intercessions alumni who may be experiencing some difficulties in their daily lives; therefore, we welcome your request for intercession. To include your loved one or yourself, just write, call or E-mail (ddouglass@howemilitary.com). The organ in All Saints Chapel has been tuned and final repairs are to be completed by the middle of next school year. The final monies were donated by the Max Larsen estate. We still have a long way to go with regards to restoration of the organ at St James.

I was presented, for the second year, the Raymond R. Kelley award; the monies from this award were used by me to defray the costs associated with my preparation and inclusion in the Diaconate program. This endowment was instituted through the generosity of the Class of '51 and I am deeply honored and indebted to that class and the school for bestowing such an honor on me twice. In addition, I had the Tatler dedicated to me which makes my year a success!

I am glad to report the chapel program is alive and well and continues to grow. Fr. Yaw and I have instituted a cultural evening where we take cadets from different ethnic backgrounds to restaurants associated with the cadets' culture. This last year, we visited a Chinese/ Japanese, Italian, Mexican, Indian and McDonalds' restaurants. McDonalds was for St. Patrick's Day and the Irish cadets were able to partake of the shamrock milkshake and fries in commemoration of the great potato famine. We enjoy going to these places with the cadets and it affords the cadets a chance to get off campus.

Recognizing Our Founders

The beginning of October usually means that fall has arrived, but for Howe Military School it is a time to recognize its founders; Frances Marie Glidden Howe, John Badlam Howe, James Blake Howe, Bishop David Buell Knickerbacker, Dr. Charles Nelson Spalding and the many other benefactors who have so generously helped to keep the school in existence for 119 years.

We celebrate the founding of HMS with various events on campus, such as cookouts, sporting events, fundraisers, a recognition dinner, the military ball and the induction of new members into the Herrick Fellow Society. This year we will celebrate the founding of the school October 3 - 5.

Putting a Little Fun in the Front Yard

The Parents' Association had so much fun last Founder's Day Weekend with the Hawaiian luau theme; they decided to do it again this year. The barbecuers will be going whole hog.

This event is by reservation only, but is open to all alumni, parents, siblings, grandparents and friends. So dig out your Hawaiian attire, pray for sunshine and come out and take part in the excitement. The cost is $12.00 per person. You may use the form below to RSVP or contact the Development Office at (260) 562-2131, ext. 228 or by email at alumni@howemilitary.com.

We also encourage everyone to join us for the Heroes in Education Banquet, with a reception at 5:00 p.m. in the Major Merritt Dining Hall, followed by a buffet dinner at 6:00 p.m. Make your reservations again with either the form below or by contacting the Development Office. We will be honoring those individuals who were named a "Hero in Education", during the 2002-03 Annual Fund campaign. Special invitations will be mailed to those named a hero. The cost for dinner is $30.00.

A complete schedule of Founder's Day Weekend will appear on the Howe Military School website soon. Be sure to visit the school's website for information on Founder's Day Weekend and other activities that will be taking place throughout the year. See you all at Howe October 3 - 5.

Don't forget to participate in our 50/50 drawing. A ticket is provided below. You may make additional copies or we will fill them out for you.

Alumni News

Alumni Weekend - exciting, rewarding, fun

A year seems like a long time, but it might as well be tomorrow when you are trying to plan a reunion weekend. The job of a class agent is never easy; writing letters, making telephone calls or sending email messages to get a commitment from classmates to return to Howe takes a lot of effort and time. Starting five years in advance of their 50th reunion, the Class of 1953 did an outstanding job of getting 22 class members to return. The Classes of 1943 and 1948 also had a good return because of the hard work of their class agents.

Nearly two hundred alumni, spouses, girlfriends or friends returned to Howe from around the states, including distances such as California, Alaska, Hawaii, and even the Virgin Islands. Not only did they bring with them the sun and warm temperatures that had been missing at Howe since last summer, but also the warmth of their hearts and minds. Old friendships were rekindled and new and lasting ones made, with promises to get more involved with HMS.

The dates of Alumni Weekend 2004 are April 30 - May 2. Mark your calendars now. If your class year ends in a 4 or 9, you will have special reunions and your class agents are working hard to ensure a good return. Don't disappoint them! Be here and support them and the school. If you are not having a reunion year, don't let that keep you away. Come and join in the fun. If you don't meet up with anyone you knew when you attended school here, you are sure to make at least one new acquaintance.

Bittersweet in 2003!

With the recent loss of Tom Merritt and the death of George Dollas in 1998, the 50th reunion class found the weekend to be bittersweet. Both Tom and George had been either co-class agent or class agent for the Class of 1953. Preparing the last few months of a golden anniversary alone is not an easy task. However, class agent, Keith Duley, who recently had some health problems as well, was overwhelmed with joy to see the circle of friends who returned to Howe to celebrate this special time in their lives.

As a special tribute to the years that Tom and George dedicated to Howe Military School, its goals and programs, a scholarship endowment was established by the Class of 1953. The "Dollas-Merritt Academic Excellence Scholarship" was presented to the school at the annual banquet, as their 50th anniversary class gift.

Tom and George recognized the need for Howe Military School to maintain high academic standards and they constantly worked towards this goal. Tom, with his entire life central to Howe: 33 years on the Board of Trustees, eleven years as Superintendent, six years as Archivist/Historian and co-class agent. George, with his years of service on the Alumni Association board of directors, class agent, and his untiring efforts at fundraising. The purpose of this scholarship is to attract students that are of the highest caliber, not only scholastically, but in all phases of their lives. It will be awarded annually, for the term of one year. The cadet may renew it for each year attending Howe Military School, provided the provisions and requirements of the scholarship criteria have been maintained.

Alumni Association presents 2003 Awards

The most prestigious award the Alumni Association presents each year is our Alumnus of the Year award. The criteria necessary for being named Alumnus of the Year is to be a reflection of the Howe Alumni Association's mission statement. This award recognizes an alumnus whose career achievements and service to Howe have been exemplary. A formal picture of the honoree will be placed in the Major Merritt Dining Hall for the next year. His name will also be placed on a permanent plaque, which is also in the dining hall. James D. Weiss, Class of 1953, humbly accepted this award.

James, or Jim as most refer to him, came to Howe Military School as a camper for five years and as a cadet for four years. While at Howe, he was one of the very few who participated in and lettered in four sports. They were track, basketball, baseball, and he served as captain for the cross country team. Jim received the NFL Degree of Honor, and, he qualified as an expert rifleman for three years. He was a member of the Varsity H Club, the Old Guard, and won the county ping-pong singles and doubles championship.

Following graduation from HMS Jim attended Wayne State University where he received his BA in business management in 1957. While a student at Wayne State, he was chosen to be a student intern assistant to Walter Ruether, president of the AFL-CIO. Jim then attended Indiana University where he graduated with an MBA in finance in 1959 and served as Vice President of Delta Chi fraternity. Having been identified as an individual who was both highly personable and capable of administrative affairs Jim was hired as a personal assistant to Eli Lilly...not Eli Lilly the corporation but Eli Lilly the man who founded and served as the long term chairman of Eli Lilly Corporation. So impressed was Mr. Lilly with Jim's talent that he insisted on sending him to the Indiana University School of Law.

Jim has had an outstanding professional career; having worked for Charles Pfizer & Company, Bache & Company, E.F. Hutton, and Kemper Securities. While at Pfizer & Company, he was named salesman of the quarter several times and salesman of the year in 1966. He also taught personal finance and salesmanship at the University of Toledo. In 1973 he formed his own company, specializing in real estate development and leasing, with an emphasis on tax planning. Jim has been a member of the NYSE, NASD and was a licensed commodity broker. He has also served on the Board of Advisors for Century Bank and Trust, is a director for Southern Michigan Bancorp and has been a member of the Rotary Club, and the American Management Association.

Jim has had a long-standing association with Howe Military School, as did his father, Earl, and mother, Elizabeth. In their honor, Jim made it possible for them to be inducted into the Herrick Fellow Society. His father, Earl, was quartermaster of the school from 1942-1964.

Thirty-six years after his own graduation, Jim was proud to have his son, James, graduate from Howe in 1989.

Jim has served on the Alumni Board for over 30 years, having served as president in 1971. He also served on the school's Board of Trustees for five years. He was named Distinguished Alumnus in 1984-85 and was named a Hero in Education in 2002. He opened the Alumni Club in Sturgis, MI in 2002, as a permanent home for the Howe Military School Alumni Weekend hospitalities.

We believe that Jim's achievements, leadership and service certainly prove that he is well deserving of the Alumnus of the Year award. He has been recognized as a consistent donor through his membership in the Herrick Fellow Society and John B. Howe Society. He places a special emphasis on scholarships and wishes for Howe to maintain its status as a first rate school, helping young people to have the opportunity to be prepared for college through the Howe experience. He believes that Howe Military School will instill in them the fundamentals of leadership and enable them to become the type of citizens of which our school and nation can be proud.

A Time to Award Achievements

Honorary Alumni awards presented at Alumni Banquet

One of the highest tributes the HMS alumni can bestow is our Honorary Alumnus/ae awards. Naming individuals to this high honor is, in essence, accepting them as a brother or sister into the Howe alumni family. We recognize them for their values, contributions, and dedication to our school and the Association. It is, therefore, not a decision that is taken lightly by the executive board when we name someone to an honorary status. This year we were excited to recognize two individuals who have met these high standards.

Tony DeFelice, a 13-year faculty member, has exhibited the qualities which distinguish our teaching staff as something special.

After graduating high school, Tony attended the University of Akron, working many odd jobs to pay for his own schooling. Soon after college, he found his way to Howe Military School where he began teaching Algebra I and II. He also accepted the many extracurricular responsibilities that accompany a teaching post at Howe. Among them are: several coaching responsibilities, including lower school soccer coach, tennis coach, junior varsity boy's basketball coach and head basketball coach (for which he was named the Midland Athletic Conference coach of the year). Tony was also assistant baseball coach for one year and head baseball coach for one year. He currently teaches Algebra II and Geometry and coaches varsity golf and varsity boy's basketball. He is also a member of the National Honor Society Committee and is an honorary member of the VHC. Tony has also been named numerous times to the Who's Who among America's Teachers.

For years Tony has set a positive example for his fellow faculty members as a professional in the truest sense of the word. He was married August 1997 to his lovely wife, Leanne, who is our Dean of Students, athletic director and recipient of an honorary alumnus award in 2002. They are expecting their first child in October and in his free time Tony enjoys visiting his parents and brother in Myrtle Beach, SC, playing golf, reading, and spending time with his two dogs. It was with great pride and honor that the Howe Military School Alumni Association presented the title of Honorary Alumnus to Anthony "Tony" DeFelice.

Glen Barton takes his job at Howe seriously and his work ethic is exceeded by his friendliness and competence. A son of Iowa raised in the Midwest, Glen was drafted into the Army soon after completing high school. It was in the Army that he was trained as a mechanic. While stationed in France in the mid 1960's he met the woman he would soon marry. His unit was transferred to Germany in 1968, where he was stationed before his return to the United States and a post at Ft. Leonard Wood, MO. Through the early 1970's, Glen served tours of duty in Vietnam and Turkey before returning to Germany for a second time. By the late 1970's he was stationed at Ft. Meade, MD and promoted to the rank of first sergeant, a level and position he had long sought.

Not content with a leisurely retirement, Glen came to Howe Military School in 1987 after serving 21 years in the Army. He was assigned the position of tactical officer in Echo Company, where he received the respect and love of many HMS cadets. In 1993 he transferred to the quartermaster position, where he supplies our corps of cadets with everything, from books and uniforms to Howe memorabilia and sportswear, and still keeps a close connection with alumni, parents and friends.

Glen is the father of five children, a very close family. Shannon, a 1993 graduate of Howe, was attending his 10th reunion this year. Sons, Shane and Shawn, also attended Howe. His lovely wife, Fran, works at Howe, as an associate for Sodexo Food Services. It was a pleasure and an honor to name Captain Glen Barton an Honorary Alumnus of the Howe Alumni Association.

Howe's Values are for Life

A message from the Alumni Association President

Charles Piszczor '83

cpiszczor@cme.com

"I look forward to serving the Association and meeting alumni throughout the course of my term."

The annual Alumni Weekend was held May 2-4, with great success. The annual business meeting was conducted in the Major Merritt Dining Hall, Saturday, May 3. Newly elected officers were Charles Piszczor '83, President; Ray Stuckey '67, 1st Vice-President; Greg Taylor '80, 2nd Vice-President; and Rich Franck '63, Treasurer. Van Kchikian '82 was elected as a new board member to serve a three-year term. During the annual business meeting, special recognition awards were presented to George Douglass '60, Keith Duley '53, and Larry Green '53 for their support of the school.

Special Recognition Awards are awarded to individuals, not necessarily alumni or HMS employees, who have made a significant contribution toward the vitality of Howe Military School and/or the Association and/or the cadet corps. Such awards are appropriate for retirements of employees or major support from an individual, company, or foundation. Nominations for award consideration must be provided to the Awards Committee of the Alumni Association by their November board meeting for consideration. Nominations for the award will be accepted from any Howe alumnus or Howe Military School administrator. All nominations must include a brief written resume of the nominee's criteria.

George Douglass '60 was granted special recognition honors for his dedication and service to HMS as a teacher, pastor, counselor, coach, commandant, mentor and director of summer camp.

Keith Duley '53 was granted special recognition honors for his dedication and willingness to serve as the class agent for the Class of 1953 and for his outstanding support and participation in the Class Agent Program.

Larry Green '53 was granted special recognition honors for his dedication and service to HMS and the Alumni Association and for the initiation of the 50/50 raffle.

The weekend was greeted with warm weather and smiling alumni faces. Registration in the mansion reunited alumni and renewed friendships, some reaching back fifty years. The excitement continued Friday evening at the Alumni Club in Sturgis. The highlight of the weekend was the banquet at the Kendallville Banquet and Convention Center, where the classes of 1943, 1948, 1958, 1963, 1968, 1973, 1978, 1983, 1988, 1993, 1998, and, of course, the 50th reunion class of 1953 were recognized.

The 50/50 raffle was the only fundraiser for this year. You may still participate. Drawings are held the first of each month. Payment must be received two weeks prior to the drawing. If you wish to be included in every month until the end of April, please send your check for $80.00 ($10 per month). The average payout has been $350-$400. Contact the Development Office for a form or to have them fill it out for you. Mastercard, Visa and American Express are accepted.

Cruising the USA Mapping our Route

Traveling, traveling and more traveling! What fun it has been coming to your areas and we plan to expand and go even further this year.

Development and Admissions' staff, along with faculty members, spent the past year visiting alumni at either regional gatherings or dinner outings, prior to off-campus open houses. At some of the gatherings we enjoyed dinner with five or six, while at others there were fifteen to twenty in attendance. Many new acquaintances were made and there were always alumni board members or class agents present. Some attending had not been in touch with Howe for nearly fifty years. New class agents and co-class agents were gained and the camaraderie has been exuberant.

We are currently mapping our route for 2003 and 2004 and plan to travel beyond the Midwestern states. With the help of Personalized Map Company, Howe alumni across the nation have been charted, county by county. The map provided here does not scan well, but we hope you will get a general idea of where our alumni are located. It is interesting to note that there are alumni in all fifty states.

A Big Thanks to our Florida Hosts

As noted on the map, many alumni live in Florida and many are snowbirds there as well. Getting together on the east and west coast has become somewhat of a tradition. For some reason though, attendance was low this year and we are, therefore, open to suggestions for achieving a better turnout. Our hosts go to a lot of work making hotel accommodations, booking a country club or restaurant and making follow-up telephone calls after the initial invitations are mailed. Our gatherings this year were hosted by Margaret Harvey Briscoe '91 and her husband, Craig, on the west coast and by David Sheppard '70 and his wife, Lyn, and Richard Dryden '56 and his wife, Janet, on the east coast. Our thanks and appreciation to all of them for their hours of work in getting everything arranged for some enjoyable evenings.

The west coast event took place at the elegant Fiddlesticks Country Club in Ft. Myers. Leanne DeFelice, Dean of Students at Howe, attended the gathering on behalf of HMS, bringing greetings and updates from the school and the very cold, snowy north. Memories of Tom Merritt and Howe experiences were shared and enjoyed by all who attended.

The east coast event began with a limo ride from the Holiday Inn hotel, where some of the attendees were staying, to the fabulous River House Restaurant in historic downtown Ft. Lauderdale. Following a dinner that found everyone eating way too much, a walk along the river was necessary. Artists and crafters lined the walk, which made for an exciting and enjoyable addition to this beautiful spring evening. The event was concluded with a relaxing limo ride back to the hotel. Director of Development, Jean Miller, and her husband, Ray, attended the east coast gathering and also visited with alumni on their way to Florida and back.

If you missed either of these gatherings, we hope you will consider attending next year. We are looking for hosts for our Florida gatherings in 2004. February seems to be a good month, as most of our northerners are still there.

In addition to our Florida gatherings, we look to travel west this year. We hope to include Texas, Arizona and California in our travels. If you are interested in hosting a gathering in any of those areas, please contact the Development Office at ext. 227.

Watch your mailbox for your invitation to the gatherings in your area. Then, when you receive the invitation, mark your calendars and plan to attend. We look forward to seeing you.

Congrats to our newest alumnus

Ending the Howe Experience on a High

A year ago many thought the dream of a young man, who had attended Howe Military School since 1995, might just have come to an end. With the beginning of his senior year just weeks away, Philip Vernier was involved in a serious automobile accident while summering in Colorado. The accident left his legs and arms immobile. In a full body cast and wheelchair, with surgeries and therapy ahead of him, Phil and his family now wondered what the future might hold. Determined to complete his education at Howe, Phil pressed forward with all he had and in early October returned to accomplish his goal - graduating from HMS.

In early spring, Phil was promoted to Battalion Commander. Having overcome many of his physical tribulations, he was now in charge of 175 cadets. His days were long, but the discipline learned at Howe helped him to become one of the school's best.

Howe Military School is pleased to announce the following awards presented to Phil during Mother's Day Weekend and graduation weekend.

General MacArthur Award — Each year the General Douglas MacArthur Foundation presents this award to the outstanding cadets of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the United States. The objective is to encourage students of the member institutions to emulate and practice the qualities exemplified by General MacArthur as a cadet at

Proud of a True Hero

Lt. Col. J. Thomas Pearlman '51 recognized

On October 11, 2002, while Tom Pearlman was in Texas with his wife, Janice, for her high school reunion, he was presented with Proclamation No. 1140 from the Texas Senate. He was recognized for his dedication to his country and his outstanding military service. At the same time, he received a Texas state flag (the Lone Star flag) that was flown over the state capitol on July 4, 2002.

The proclamation, signed by Eddie Lucio, Jr., member of the Texas Senate, reads in part:

"Whereas the regular infantry officer and master army aviator, Col. Pearlman served his country with valor in Vietnam and in Korea and received numerous decorations during the course of his distinguished career.

West Texas Military Institute and the U.S. Military Academy. To be eligible for the award, the nominee must be the most soldierly cadet considering academics, athletics and leadership.

Bishop Gray Saber & Bouton Memorial Plaque — This award is presented to the senior who has made the greatest overall achievement in school activities during their years at Howe Military School.

Commander of the Old Guard Plaque — The Howe plaque is awarded to cadets who attend Howe Military School for eight years.

Academic Achievement Award — This program is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education and recognizes and honors students who have achieved high academic goals through their hard work and dedication to learning. Cadets must maintain a required GPA and have test scores within established percentile levels, as set forth by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, to be eligible for one of two honors: the President's Award for Educational Excellence or the President's Award for Educational Achievement.

National Honor Society Honor Chord — Chords are awarded to the seniors who are graduating in good standing from the National Honor Society.

Phil is the son of Lisabeth Vernier of Rochester Hills, MI and Paul Vernier of Eastpointe, MI. He was named to the Headmaster's List four times and the Superintendent's List one time during his senior year. He plans to attend Oakland University where he will major in law, and minor in engineering or psychology. Howe Military School wishes him the very best on his accomplishments, not only during this past year but all eight years at HMS. Welcome to the Alumni Association!

He was awarded the Bronze Star medal, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Army Commendation medal, the Meritorious Service medal, and the Legion of Merit. He was also awarded 28 air medals."

The proclamation goes on to say that Tom volunteered three times to serve in Vietnam and was shot down three times. He received the Purple Heart and the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry.

"Whereas Col. Pearlman is noted for his integrity, leadership and courage, and his outstanding military career is a testament to his patriotism and his commitment to his fellow man..." the proclamation continues.

"I never knew they were going to do this," Tom said. "The State of Texas doesn't do this kind of thing, and this just blows you away!"

Howe Military School 2002-2003 Annual Report

The Annual Fund report acknowledges gifts made to Howe Military School between July 1, 2002 and June 30, 2003. This report outlines the many individuals and businesses who have contributed financially to the school, but there are also those who have contributed to our success that may not be listed in these pages. Whether you attend one of the regional gatherings, open houses or special events on campus, participate on a board or committee, or cheer at an athletic event, you contribute to the unmatched excellence of Howe Military School. We thank you for your commitment to the continuation of the Howe Military School tradition of excellence in education.

Also listed are those individuals who were honored by being named a "Hero in Education". We have just completed our third year of this five-year program. Any person donating to the 2002-2003 Howe Military School Annual Fund was given the opportunity to submit the name of someone they would like to honor as a "Hero in Education." Those heroes still living were sent a letter notifying them of their nomination as a "Hero". They also received a certificate to commemorate the honor.

Throughout this publication you have read highlights of the 2002-2003 school year. In addition to these high profile stories, our cadets have also achieved untold, quiet victories in the classrooms, on the playing fields, and within the corps. It is because of your generous support that these accomplishments have been possible. Your continued support of Howe Military School will help us to achieve new and higher goals and allow us to continually elevate the quality of our program.

Worth the Wait!

Fifty years seems like a long time to wait for something you have wanted your entire life. For Tim Marsh '54 and Ron Swanson '55, the wait was well worth it. Both Tim and Ron were presented with an Honorary Varsity H letter and membership in the VHC during the Commencement awards ceremony this year.

Ronald Swanson '55 was a four-year varsity cross-country and track letterman, as well as receiving a varsity letter in baseball and decathlon. Alumnus, Jim Weiss '53, also presented Ron with his original paddle that was used when Ron pledged the VHC in 1954. Ron is a past president of the Alumni Association, has served with the Association for 25 years and chaired the 100 year celebration of Howe Military School.

Charles (Tim) Marsh '54 attended Howe for eight years. During his high school career, Tim lettered as the varsity baseball manager and was a three-time letterman in wrestling. On occasion, Ray Kelly would have Tim wrestle in three or four different weight classes; he did not lose a match. In 1952 he placed second at sectionals and in 1953 he placed third. During his senior year, Tim not only won the sectional and regional championship but also placed fourth at the state meet in the 98 pound class. He was undefeated in three years of dual-meet competition in the 98 pound class.
